On March 30th, the Latino legislative Caucus sent a letter to Governor Newsom outlining three priorities.

1. Create and entirely fund a “Disaster Relief Fund” for undocumented residents who are unable to work due to Covid-19 pandemic.
2. Remove the prohibition on immigrant filers for the EITC, thereby extending access to eligible taxpaying families who file with an ITIN.
3. Extend Medi-Cal eligibility to low-income undocumented adults.
If you’re an immigrant living in California, here is what you need to know to protect yourself, your family, and your community from coronavirus. Services and public benefits are available to you, some regardless of immigration status. And special assistance for immigrant Californians who don’t qualify for other programs will be available in May.

Testing and treatment

Don’t let fear stop you from getting necessary treatment, as the effects of avoiding health care services may be very serious. This will help keep you, your family, and your community healthy.

Even if you are undocumented and/or don’t have insurance, you can get necessary testing and treatment for COVID-19 through Medi-Cal emergency services, even at
Covid-19 Guidance for Immigrants

Small Business Support

If you are a small business owner who is a non-U.S. citizen and holds a temporary visa, or if you are an undocumented immigrant, your eligibility for small business financial assistance will depend on the program. Most importantly, we encourage you to work within your community network of business contacts to find a business consultant or lender that you can trust to understand your situation and carefully walk you through the options that are best for you. Please find a list of resources here:

- Small Business Centers. For all businesses, California supports a network of small business centers which provide free or low-cost consulting and training to help businesses figure out which loans or other federal, state or local programs are a fit for them, and develop resiliency strategies. Many offer multiple languages. Use this Small Business Support Centers Map to find the center nearest you.
- U.S. SBA. For non-U.S. citizens who have documentation of their legal status, federal resources may be available at the U.S. Small Business Administration:
  - Contact your local lender to inquire about the Paycheck Protection Program and your eligibility. Find an eligible paycheck protection program lender.
  - To confirm eligibility for Economic Injury Disaster Loans, please contact the SBA, which has a 24-hour customer service line: 1-800-659-2955. For ITY, dial 1-800-877-8339. Or email: disastercustomerservice@sba.gov.
- California iBank. The state of California has allocated $50 million to the Small Business Finance Center at California’s iBank to support financial relief. This program is available to all California small businesses, including undocumented immigrant entrepreneurs.
  - This fund will mitigate barriers to capital for small businesses and nonprofits that may not qualify for federal funds (businesses in low-income and immigrant communities).
  - Disaster Relief Loan Guarantee Program: Loans of up to $50,000 will be available through the Financial Development Corporations (FDCs) and their partner CDFI nonprofit lenders. Learn more at the iBank Small Business Finance Center.
  - To access the program, visit above link to find a local FDC or email iBank at: COVID19loan@iBank.ca.gov.
Disaster Relief Fund for Undocumented Californians

• One-time disaster relief assistance from the general fund in the amount of $75 million, with potentially an additional $50 million contribution from the philanthropy sector.

• Funds will benefit individuals and families who are ineligible for any other type of pandemic assistance, including direct assistance under CARES Act and unemployment insurance.

• Eligible Californian’s may receive one-time COVID-19 disaster relief assistance at a value of $500 per individual or maximum of $1,000 per household.

• The California Department of Social Services is working with select immigrant-serving community-based nonprofits to conduct outreach, application assistance and delivery of the disaster relief. Among the local organizations are the Fresno Center and the Education and Leadership Foundation, who will give us more information on process today.
